1. Overview

MPSL is a multi-disciplinary design and planning studio, providing the full range of pre-application and project management services for clients in residential, commercial and industrial development.

With expertise in regeneration master planning and sustainable construction, the MPSL team can act as external consultant or in-house technician for projects large or small. A dedicated team of designers, planners, technicians and consultants, MPSL has the skills, talent and experience to deliver the right impact at the best price to support its clients' schemes.

We're delighted to have been included on the ICN Framework!

What do we offer?

MPSL provides clients with a comprehensive service for all types of development, from initial concept planning through to detailed designs and technical working drawings. The aim is to help clients design buildings and environments that will withstand the test of time with strength, beauty and integrity.

By working closely with local authorities and developers, and liaising with residents and council members throughout the planning process, MPSL can help to create schemes which bring new benefits to the community and provide a commercially successful solution.

With a range of architecture, planning and design services available, MPSL can take on part or all of the pre-construction process on behalf of its clients, working alongside other professionals, and bring expertise to residential, commercial, and industrial projects.

2. Social Values

Social value calls upon both the client, and the design team, to consider how a project can deliver not just a particular development itself, but also how the project might improve the economic, social, and environmental well-being of the relevant area. Social value is moving further up the agenda, with a shift in emphasis, from purely economic, to the broader socio-economic value of a project.

At MPSL, social value is held at the forefront of our business, not only to the benefit of our communities, but also in a bid to do, and see things differently, contributing to the lasting success and well-being of every demographic. As designers, our primary role is to create both successful buildings, and places, which ultimately support and compliment the communities they serve. In order to ensure the long term success of a project, social value must be embedded into the heart of the design.

Economy

We are extremely passionate about providing equal opportunities for all people, irrespective of their individual background, orientation, culture or creed. We work closely with local education and training providers, offering support and work experience opportunities, having provided a number of successful apprenticeship placements to date. We value the importance of raising the aspirations, and bridging the gap for those from disadvantaged backgrounds, supporting people to navigate a clearer pathway towards our profession, and enabling all people to succeed in reaching their full potential.

Environmental

We strongly believe that it is our obligation (and the obligation of every business) to minimising the impact of daily activities on the environment as much as possible, so as to reduce the overall carbon footprint imposed. As a company, we utilise resources efficiently, in order to reduce waste, and limit our daily environmental impact. We have recently switched to a green energy source, supplied by a UK generated 100% renewable energy provider, and actively encourage all staff members to car pool, take public transport, or cycle where possible. All of our supplies are sourced locally, with a constant focus on minimising the detrimental impact of avoidable logistics.

Social

The happiness and wellbeing of those impacted by the places and spaces we create, is of pivotal importance to us. This works to guide, and influence some of the key design decisions we make, ensuring that we are able to provide an ever improving environmental impact on the communities which our projects serve. We are also proud to offer sponsorship to several local organisations and sports teams, as well as donating our time, and money, towards coaching initiatives for community groups.
